TAFT IS THANKFUL

AT NINE O'CLOCK HE WIRES
CONGRATULATIONS.

PLEASED BY THE NEW YORK VOTE

Obtains Results at Charles P. Taft's
Residence, Which is Thronged
With Many Guests.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 4.—Up to 10 o'clock Tuesday night there had been no break in the optimistic character of the returns received at the C. P. Taft residence in this city, where William H. Taft, the Republican candidate, and Mrs. Taft were surrounded by a merry party of relatives and close friends. At that time Judge Taft had no doubt of his election, as indicated by the congratulatory telegram he sent to Chairman Hitchcock shortly after 9 o'clock, central time.

At 9:50, central time, Judge Taft made this statement:

"I am very much pleased with the results as they come in, indicating a favorable verdict for the Republican ticket. I am especially gratified at the definite information from New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Illinois and New Jersey."
Judge Taft declined to make any but the most general expression of satisfaction, saying he should delay his statement until Ohio is heard from.

BRYAN CARRIES MISSOURI.

Count on Governorship is Claimed
By Both Sides.

St. Louis, Nov. 4.—Missouri gave its electoral votes to Bryan and Kern, the pluralities of the Democratic nominees being estimated at less than 50,000.

Both political parties are claiming the election of their candidates for governor, neither being willing to concede defeat.

The contest between William Joel Stone and Joseph Wingate Folk for the Democratic nomination for the senatorship is so close that there is not ground for any prediction that has a certainty of verification.

Richard C. Kerens is leading in the Republican primary for the senatorial nomination.

All of the Democrats who hold places in congress, with the exception of Thomas Hackney, of the Fifteenth, have been returned and in the Fifth, the Kansas City district, and in the Eleventh and Twelfth, St. Louis districts, the Democrats appear to have won, thus increasing the Democratic representation in congress from Missouri to fourteen, a gain of two.

FEW CONGRESSIONAL CHANGES

Out of 207 Districts Republicans Gain
Two Members.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Up to midnight Tuesday definite reports have been received from 207 congressional districts out of a total of 391.

Of these 119 showed the election of Republicans and eighty-eight the election of Democrats.

In the entire list, there were only two changes in political complexion, and both were favorable to the Republicans.

The Democrats lost the eleventh Pennsylvania to the Republican nominee, Henry W. Palmer, who defeated John Bigelow, and thus becomes the successor to Mr. Lenihan, the present Democratic member.

The Republicans also regained the third Wisconsin district which was lost to Joseph W. Babcock two years ago.

Manila Cables Taft.

Manila, Nov. 4.—Upon the receipt here of the news that Mr. Taft had been elected, a large number of individuals and organizations, especially those composed of Filipinos, sent a cable message conveying their congratulations to him. As the news spread through the city there was a popular demonstration for Mr. Taft is liked and respected here by natives and foreigners alike.

Taft Beats Roosevelt.

New York, Nov. 4.—State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff at 10 o'clock last night sent the following telegram to William H. Taft: "Your plurality in New York state is more than 200,000, thus exceeding President Roosevelt's majority of four years ago."

Republicans Sweep South Dakota.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 4.—Although returns were not complete at midnight, they were sufficient to show that the Republicans had practically made a clean sweep of the state on the national and state tickets. They have elected both congressmen at large.

KAISER'S FOURTH SON TO WED.

Said to Have Chosen Matrimony Rather Than College Course.

Berlin.—Prince August Wilhelm, the fourth son of the German kaiser, on being faced by the alternative of marriage or a post-graduate course at Harvard university, chose the former. The bride-elect is his pretty cousin, Princess Adelaide Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg, who was born October 19, 1889. The prince was 21 on January 26 last.

It being the intention of those most intimately interested to have the wedding take place on the birthday of the empress, who will be 50 years old on October 22, elaborate preparations are already well under way for the ceremony and the attendant festivities, although, of course, not so elaborate as those which were identified with the marriages of Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm with Princess Cecilia of Mecklenburg and Prince Ediger Frederick with Princess Sophie of Oldenburg.

The princess, probably on her birthday, will be escorted into Berlin with all the traditional pomp employed when new Hohenzollern brides have been brought into the imperial circle. Like his brothers, Prince August Wilhelm has followed the advice of his father in choosing for his bride a German princess of the Hohenzollerns.

IS STRANGEST WANT AD.

Man Sought to Demonstrate Instrument of Torture.

London.—The following strange announcement appeared in the local Thunderer the other day:

WANTED.—MAN FOR DEMONSTRATION purposes on old English rack, star chamber pattern. Would have to be slightly stretched to show how rack works. Man should be short, to start with.

The announcement has to date gone without answer, because apparently, the Englishman is sufficiently con-

The Farmer's Wife

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood. If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and dependent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distressing stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating, poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of these symptoms are Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, or leading teachers and practitioners of all the several schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicine and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

ern phrase, "star chamber session," referring to a closely secretive meeting. The rack was an implement something in the shape of a bed. The victim's feet were securely strapped to one end, and his arms attached to a revolving roll at the head. Slowly the crank was then operated, stretching the victim, bit by bit, until the desired confession or admission was wrung from the bed of torture.

Women of To-Day.

At a "coming-out" ball in a metropolitan city a few years ago the debutante and her grandmother both danced in the cotillion, says Appleton's. They were both slender and graceful, both beautiful dancers. To the casual observer they differed in these respects: The debutante had auburn hair, the unlined face of the "unwedded girl," and talked haltingly. The grandmother had white hair, lines in her face, and talked fluently. That they should both be dancing aroused no particular comment.

To-day numerous American women play tennis until 40—play golf and quieter games until 60. Not long ago a New York society woman who is close upon 60 was told by her physician that she must not hereafter walk over 30 miles in a day. Plenty of English sportswomen "follow the hounds" until past 50 years of age.

Seven Years of Proof.

Henry, of Panama, Mo. The world has had thirty-eight years of proof that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and colds, la grippe, asthma, hay fever, bronchitis, hemorrhage, of the lungs and the early stages of consumption. ### Put Blame in Right Place.

Bachelors are fond of talking about the extravagance of women and giving that as the excuse for their not marrying while they know in their hearts that there are lots of women whom they might marry who are not extravagant, as regards clothes at least. But these women they look upon as dowdies, and don't want them for life partners, which goes to show that it is the extravagance of the bachelor that reacts and makes extravagant women.—Exchange.

THE TURNING

LEVEN o'clock!" murmured the man. "Well, Elsie will be home soon now, but I won't wait up."

He went to bed, but not to sleep. The fact that his little girl was attending her first grown-up party made him wakeful and thoughtful, for it was hard for him to reconcile himself to the idea of his baby Elsie turning into a young woman. Twelve o'clock!

He wished that she were asleep in the small crib beside his bed, where he had rocked her night after night during the first six years of her happy little life. But of course he could not make her a baby again. Half past 12! If she could only have stayed a schoolgirl a few years longer that would have been a comfort and she might have done it just as well as not. It was really only a matter of the length of her skirts. They had been suddenly lowered in the spring from her shoe tops to within an inch or so of the floor and Elsie had gayly announced that she was grown up. Of course it was all nonsense. She wasn't grown up, even though she piled her thick, shiny hair so high on her pretty head. One o'clock! Something must have happened to the child. He ought to have gone with her—he who hadn't been to a ball since his college days. That chaplain he had trusted her with must be very lax. Nearly two o'clock! There, thank goodness, was her step on the stair. "Is that you, Elsie?" "Yes, daddy, dear." "Why—in a tone of deep sarcasm—"why did you come home so early?"

"I did hate to leave the party, daddy, but I was afraid you'd worry about me."

"Oh!"

"And, daddy, as you are awake, may I come in and sit on the edge of your bed? I want to talk to you. May I stay a little while?"

"Yes, child, but you ought to be in bed. Little girls need their sleep."

"Your little girl has something—something to tell you, daddy. Jack wanted to speak to you to-morrow, but I said I wanted to tell you first. You know I have always told you everything first and this time it's such a big, strange, happy thing to tell. It's—well, daddy, you know—it's Jack and me. He loves me."

"The young rascal!"

"But, daddy, you know you like him best of all the boys who come here."

"My child, this is all foolishness. You're a baby yet, dear."

"A baby at 19! Why, daddy, have you forgotten? I'm a whole year older than mother was when she—when she was taken away from us, and— and—I love Jack."

"There's no going back? Oh, is there no going back?"

"Why, daddy, what do you mean? Why do you speak so oddly? Your voice sounds so strange and sad."

"It's nothing, dear. I was dreaming before you came in that we could turn our lives back for a little while at least and it's hard to wake up to the fact that we cannot."

"But I wouldn't want to, daddy. Just think how much there is to look forward to! All that is coming is so sweet and so beautiful."

"God grant it! Good night, Elsie, daughter. Run away to bed and to happy dreams of the future, and God bless you."

"And Jack, daddy?"

"Yes, and—Jack, of course. God bless Jack, too."

Moving lightly down the hall with the first words of love still ringing in her ears, the girl could not hear the lonely man she had left saying beneath his breath: "There's no turning back—no turning back! Oh, my baby girl!"—Chicago Daily News.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

The Official Mind.

The government requires 43,925 quarts of writing fluid (recent statistics) simply because when the government wants to tell a man—say, an examination candidate—to sit down at his desk, it says not "Pray be seated," but "The candidate (or candidates) is (or are) requested and commanded to take (or adopt) his (or her) seat (or seats) at the table (or tables) with his (or her) pen (or pens) in his (or her) hand (or hands)."—The London Daily Mirror.

A DEPOSED MINISTER

PETER ALBERTI, DANISH STATES-MAN AND BANK WRECKER.

Poor Peasants of His Country Defrauded of Millions Through His Ambition to Become Rich in a Short Time.

London.—Denmark's deposed minister of justice, Peter Adler Alberti, who is now awaiting trial on his confession that he embezzled deposits amounting to about $3,000,000 from a bank whose patrons were chiefly poor peasants, came to his downfall through an ambition to become very rich in a short time. He is said to have lost the money of the depositors through rash investments in American stocks, but his losses were apparently not all at one time, for, according to his own story, he has falsified the books of the bank for the last 14 years.

Alberti was born June 10, 1851. His father was prominent in politics and was the founder of the bank which has been ruined. The young man was bred to the law and practiced the profession for a number of years. During this practice he developed a talent for organization, starting a fire insurance company and a company for the exportation of butter to England. Both the elder and the younger Alberti were identified with the Danish agricultural interests in politics and in business, these interests being the leading ones of the nation. The bank founded by the elder Alberti was named "Bondenstandens Sparekasse"—Peasants' Savings bank—and was considered, until the revelations of the younger Alberti's perfidy, one of the soundest financial institutions in Denmark.

While visiting London for the purpose of transacting business for the butter export company, Alberti had an opportunity of making, unobserved by his countrymen, the investments that turned out ruinously for him and disastrously for the people who trusted him. His victims were not only the peasant depositors in the bank, but also several exporting and manufacturing firms in which he was interested and individuals who advanced him large sums of money. Even King Frederick VIII. is said to have been Alberti's creditor to the amount of $400,000.

As a politician Alberti became prominent about 1892. He was a reformer and a leader who, despite his treachery in business, was a legislator of value to the nation. It is generally admitted that in his early political career he meant well for Denmark and few criticisms of this part of his career are heard. But his later business life was subjected to close scrutiny by his political enemies and this led to his exposure.

King Christian, who died in January, 1906, trusted Alberti implicitly. His son, the present king, continued to have faith in the banker-minister of justice. Last June, when the leaders of the Social Democratic party assailed Alberti, King Frederick refused to believe that his trusted minister could have done anything wrong and bestowed fresh honors on him. From Germany, Norway and Greece, also, Alberti received honors in the form of decorations.

In appearance Alberti in his prosperity was handsome and dignified, possessing an air of authority and ability that made for him many admirers and supporters. An indefatigable worker, he had the faculty of inspiring others to work hard also, and up to the last was calm and apparently undisturbed by the indignation he had aroused.

Alberti has been twice married. His first wife was divorced from him and is married to the Danish tenor, Peter Cornelius, who is considered one of the greatest living singers of Wagner operas. The second wife of Alberti is trying to intercede for him on the plea that he cannot face a long term of imprisonment because of a serious disease of which he is a victim, and that he has done signal service for the state. Her pleas are not likely to be of avail, for all Denmark regards it as a national calamity that Alberti should have proved so great a thief, and it is determined that he shall be punished.
